Mitchell Lawyer Again Interrupts Court-Martial

ATTEMPT TO UNSEAT JUDGE MISSES MARK

Reid Flares Up at Undertone
Rebuke of His Cross-examination Tactics

COURT DEBATES CHARGE
Overrules Argument That
Graves Showed Bias and Interrupted Examination

Washington, D. C. (AP)—Counsel for Col. William Mitchell failed Tuesday in a spectacular attempt to unseat another member of the Mitchell court-martial—Major General Williams Graves.

After a consultation in secret the court overruled defense charges that General Graves had interfered with the cross-examination of prosecution witnesses, and had displayed bias.

The decision followed another fiery altercation in open court, arising from a comment made in an undertone by Gen. Graves regarding the method of the defense attorney, Representative Reid of Illinois, in his questioning of witnesses.

KING UNDER FIRE
Gen. Graves had made some remarks about Reid's method of cross-examination, but when the defense attorney protested, the general replied that he had not interrupted the proceedings. The court retired to consider the question.

Last Friday Brigadier General Edward L. King, another member of the court, was accused by Reid of remarking in an undertone from the bench that the defense testimony then being heard was "damn rot" although General King apologized, this incident has been reported to the war department.

When Tuesday's flare-up occurred, Captain H. E. Yarnell of the navy was being cross-examined by Reid about the Hawaiian flight, and Major Allen Gullion, assistant trial judge advocate had complained to the court of Reid's "insulting treatment" of witnesses. The defense counsel had unnecessarily inquired into the private affairs of Captain Yarnell, said Maj. Gullion.

DEBUTE IN SECRET
"Are you a good example of a non-flying officer who commands flying units?" Reid asked the witness. "Captain Yarnell answered that he did not consider himself competent to express an opinion in reply to such a question, and the reply was followed immediately by the argument between Reid and Gen. Graves.

When the court returned to the room after the consultation behind closed doors Representative Reid challenged General Graves' right to sit as a member of the court.

WARNS COUNSEL
When the lawyer made his accusation the general denied that he had interrupted the questioning or shown any partiality. The president of the court, Major General Robert L. Howze, admonished counsel for both sides to desist from "disgraceful wrangling and to address the court and not each other, but Representative Reid refused to be quelled.

He lodged this formal protest against General Graves: "I hereby challenge Gen. Graves to sit longer as a member of this court for the reason that his actions while on this court show that he is not impartial and that in justice and fairness to the accused General Graves should no longer be permitted to sit as a member of this court."

4 SUE TO BREAK ANTI-OLEO LAWS

Dane-co Court Hears Objections of Manufacturers, Wholesalers, Retailers

Madison—(AP)—Trial of four cases in which an effort is being made to prevent enforcement of the new anti-oleomargarine law in Wisconsin, opened in circuit court here Tuesday.

The cases were brought by manufacturers, wholesalers and retailers of oleomargarine. Attorney General Herman L. Ekern, and C. A. Erickson, deputy attorney general, are representing the state. Opponents of the law, which was passed by the last legislature, are seeking an order restraining J. Q. Emery, state dairy and food commissioner, from enforcing its provisions.

Enforcement of the law, which bars from the state oleomargarine or other butter substitutes containing milk or milk products, has been delayed since Sept. 1, when it became effective, by a temporary injunction. Counsel has predicted that the case will be carried to the state supreme court, and possibly the federal courts, for a final decision as to the validity of the law.

KILLS CHUM AFTER KIDS' BOOZE PARTY

New York District Attorney
Blames Wild Life of Young People as Cause

New York—(AP)—The slaying of George Nye, 19, was the climax of a "children's booze party," District Attorney McGeehan said Tuesday in announcing that Nye's chum, Gordon Pirie, had confessed the killing.

Pirie walked into a Bronx police station shortly after midnight and surrendered himself as the slayer of Nye, whose battered body was found in a bedroom in Pirie's home by the latter's 16-year-old sister, Margaret. Pirie was arrested on a charge of homicide after he had made a confession at the pleading of Violet Schmidt, a friend of the victim.

"Tell the truth, Gordon," she begged, and Pirie told the district attorney how he had smashed his friend's skull with an axe, had robbed his pockets of $5.60 and had taken a girl to the movies a few hours later.

"I just got the notion to kill him," the district attorney quoted Pirie as saying.

All of the principals in the case are minors including half a dozen young girls who had been to parties with the boys.

"Aside from the murder phase of this case," said Mr. McGeehan, "it gives me an insight into the lives of the young people of this city. They are beyond parental control. Young girls go around without selecting their company, they take taxi rides with men with whom they are only slightly acquainted, and they associate with those who carry flasks. This case is certainly a sad commentary upon home life."

After a party Saturday night Nye and Pirie went to Pirie's home for the night. Nye's body being found under a bed Sunday. Pirie, according to confession, killed Nye as he slept and wrapped his head in burlap bagging. He wandered about the city a full day, frequenting pool rooms and taking girls to the movies until his money ran out when he surrendered.

MINERS' HOLIDAY IS PROLONGED ONCE MORE

Phila., Pa.—(AP)—Governor Pinchot's plan for ending the anthracite suspension has failed the mine owners having rejected it, and hope of an early peace Tuesday appeared slight.

A letter from the operators, sent to the governor Monday apparently left miners and operators as far from an agreement as when their wage negotiations were broken in Atlantic City on Aug. 4.

Whether Governor Pinchot would make further efforts to bring the two sides together could not be learned.

John J. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers, said the operators' attitude did not represent "one whit of concession in the public interest." The mine workers, he said, accepted the governor's plan promptly because of the existing emergency.

Chicago—(AP)—A Montenegrin beauty whose life as the wife of a Russian draftsman ended after she had joined a Paris dance cult is the Herald and Examiner's story of Mrs. Olga Milinoff, named by Mrs. Miriam Noel Wright, sculptress, in her charges against Frank Lloyd Wright, famous architect.

The newspaper says Mrs. Milinoff, whom Wright called the housekeeper of "Talisman," his Spring Green, Wis., estate is 28 years old, a divorcee and the mother of a seven-year-old daughter.

She went to Tiflis, Russia, before the World War, met and married Vladimir Hiltzenberg and went with him to Paris, then they decided to try their fortunes in America.

GOVERNOR "MA" TALKS WITH HER FINGER CROSSED

Husband Says Refusal to Call Legislature Was Not "Official" Statement

Austin, Tex.—Governor Miriam A. Ferguson, has made no formal announcement of the matter of calling a special session of the Texas legislature as demanded by a number of her lover house, her husband, James E. Ferguson, said Tuesday.

It was reported Monday that she had made an informal statement to representative of the Baltimore Sun that she would not call a session.

"Now get this straight," Ferguson said, "Governor Miriam A. Ferguson has not made any formal statement as to whether or not she will call a special session."

When asked if the governor had been correctly quoted Monday by the Baltimore Sun representative, Ferguson replied: "I'll let you newspaper men argue that out for yourselves."

Almost 50 members of the house have served notice on the governor that a special session would be called by the speaker unless she issued the call by Dec. 16. The demand for the session grows out of alleged irregularities in the highway commission which have resulted recently in the resignation of two highway commissioners and a $600,000 judgment against the American Road company which held large highway contracts.

More than 200 casks of wine were in the cellar. Police are holding six men for questioning in the hope of obtaining a clue to the slayer.

U. S. Has Confidence In Briand And New Cabinet

Paris—(AP)—Louis Loucheur, minister of finance, told newspaper men Tuesday afternoon that "the new ministry is unanimous in wishing to resume negotiations for the settlement of France's war debt as soon as possible."

"The ministry hopes for a reasonable solution between ourselves and our allies," he asserted.

BY DAVID LAWRENCE Copyright, 1925, by The Post Pub. Co.

Washington, D. C.—There is no concealing the satisfaction felt here that Aristide Briand has formed a ministry and taken hold of the reins of government in France and that his first announcement should contain a promise to settle the war debt question with the United States.

Perhaps more significant than Mr. Briand's declaration was the significant reference in inspired cable dispatches from French sources that Loucheur, minister of finance, has retracted his early statement to the effect that France would never pay her war debt to America.

M. Loucheur said this in an interview several years ago and whenever his name has been mentioned for the treasury portfolio it has sent shivers up and down the spine of official Washington, for his prospective appointment has always been construed as a possible forerunner of debt repudiation.

MADE FRIENDS

M. Briand recognized this in selecting M. Loucheur and that is why officials think more than passing notice should be given the announcement made by the premier as he disclosed the personnel of his cabinet.

The American government has been particularly successful in its relations with M. Briand before, in fact when he was overthrown just after the Washington armament conference and Raymond Poincare put in power there was a feeling that much had been lost in a diplomatic sense.

For while he was here Premier Briand made warm friends. His attitude toward reparations even in advance of the meeting of the Daves committee was viewed here as sane and understanding. It now is freely acknowledged that M. Briand's view point was largely responsible for the success of the Locarno conference which may bring a new day to Europe.

Under M. Briand the Locarno treaties will be ratified and there is a possibility that the disarmament movement may be further advanced. The fact that M. Briand played such a prominent part in the Locarno parties had much to do with the prestige he had gathered when he was asked to form a cabinet.

GOING ON HIM

This opportunity has been in foreign relations. His influence on the settlement of the debt platform is counted upon here to clear up that question at an early date.

The criticism of the Loucheur appointment voiced by the London press is not shared here, now that so dominant a personality as M. Briand is at the head of the council of ministers and responsible for French policy. M. Loucheur's ability as a financier is recognized. He is said to be one of the wealthiest men in France.

Under his regime such measures as are taken to tax the wealthy are apt to be received with less disturbance than if a radical were in charge of the finance portfolio.

On the whole the feeling here is that matters have improved in Europe with the formation of the Briand ministry in France.

TEXAS COLLEGE PREXY REFUSES TO QUIT JOB

Fort Worth, Tex.—(AP)—Amon G. Carter, chairman of the board of directors of the Texas Technical college whose resignation was requested Monday by Governor Miriam A. Ferguson will not accede to her request, he announced in a formal letter to her and in a statement to be published here Tuesday.

The letter and statement deny all charges made by the governor and declare that this is an effort on the part of the Fergusons to divert attention from the highway disclosures.

MAY BE UP TO BOB TO DECIDE PARTY COLOR

Engineer of Committees Would Ask LaFollette if He Wants G. O. P. Standing

Washington, D. C.—(AP)—Republican senate leaders may leave to Senator La Follette, of Wisconsin, the determination of his own political status in the senate, Chairman Watson of the Republican committee on committee, after a visit with President Coolidge Tuesday said he would confer with other members of his committee, and if it should be agreeable to them he would write Senator La Follette asking whether he desired to be given places on the regular senate standing committee as a Republican.

The Indiana senator said Mr. La Follette would be invited to the Republican party conference which has been called for Saturday. Senator Watson is making a study of La Follette's campaign to succeed his father in an effort to determine whether he did ascend the policies of President Coolidge and emulate a platform at sharp variance with that adopted at Chicago by the Republicans in 1924.

Members of the Old Guard are divided on the question of whether he should be out of the party councils as his father was before him. Some hold that, since he was elected on the Republican ticket, he should be treated as a Republican, while others take the position that his speeches in his campaign put him beyond the party pale.

There has been a disposition on the part of some leaders to leave the question almost wholly to Senator La Follette, although Senator Loucheur, and to Senator Butler of Massachusetts, chairman of the Republican national committee. Senator Loucheur has declined to express an opinion, and Senator Butler said he had an open mind.

Asserting that as national chairman he had avoided committing the national committee on senatorial contests, Senator Butler said he had no recollection of having issued a statement on the eve of the senatorial primary in Wisconsin last September saying that, if Mr. La Follette was nominated, he would be without support of the national organization in his contest for the senatorship.

Whether the Republican senate organization treats Senator La Follette as one of its number and gives him assignments as such to standing committees may be decided at a party conference Saturday. If the subject is not taken up then it may come to an issue at a later conference.

Some leaders are counseling their colleagues to proceed thoughtfully in the matter. They believe a mistake was made a year ago when La Follette's father and Senators Ladd and Frazier of North Dakota and Brookhart of Iowa were read out of the party.

White Plains, N. Y.—(AP)—Lee Parsons Davis, counsel for Alice Britton Jones in that suit of the audit suit by her husband, Leonard Kip Rhineland, said in his summation before the jury Tuesday that the couple would never live with each other again regardless of the outcome of the case.

WORLD TREATY AS BEGINNING OF GREAT ERA

Signatory Nations Agree to Submit All Border Disputes to Arbitration

GOOD FELLOWSHIP REIGNS
French, German, English, Belgian, Czech, Polish, Italian Envoys Wax Friendly

London—(AP)—Germany and her principal antagonists in the World War Tuesday signed the Locarno treaty and coalition pact guaranteeing peace in Europe and the submission to arbitration of any disputes that may arise between them regarding their frontiers. The contrast between the signing of this momentous pact and the peace treaty of Versailles six years ago was marked in two respects.

Today there was none of the magnificence and glamour surrounding the Versailles signing. The ceremony which lasted only an hour was notable for its extreme simplicity.

And this time the Germans came of their own free will. They signed gladly with smiling faces in striking contrast to that other occasion when the delegates of the Reich appended their signature under compulsion with white faces registering a mixture of fear and anger.

Today's ceremony was carried out in a spirit of optimism which was hailed as auguring well for an era of peace throughout Europe.

To the check of motion picture cameras and a blaze of Klieg lights, Chancellor Luther of Germany, Premier Baldwin of France, and Foreign Secretary Chamberlain of Great Britain entered the famous golden reception room of the foreign office arm in arm conversing and smiling.

SIGN IN ORDER

After them came the delegates of Italy, Belgium, Holland and Czechoslovakia followed by Premier Baldwin and all his cabinet. The latter ranged themselves along the back of the room to witness the crowning success of the efforts of their government and especially of Foreign Secretary Chamberlain, whom the delegates addressed as Sir Austin Leaguemaster of the honor done him by King George, who Monday awarded him the order of the Garter for his service at Locarno.

Immediately the delegates had taken their places at the large table, in the order in which they sat at Locarno. The British foreign secretary, without rising began an address of welcome in French to the plenipotentiaries, speaking in the name of the king. His words fell in an impressive silence. In a very brief speech he told the foreign statesmen of the gratification felt over their presence at the ceremony and expressed the king's disappointment that his mother's death had made re-arrangement of program necessary.

Chancellor Luther, who followed expressed his country's pleasure at the conclusion of the pact. After him came the remaining delegates voicing similar sentiments and speaking according to tradition in the alphabetical order in which the countries fall in the French language. A few moments were taken up by the foreign office's legal adviser, Sir Cecil Hurst, informatics and the signing began at 11:23 o'clock.

USE GOLD GUILLS
The treaty was the first handed to Chancellor Luther and then to Foreign Minister Stresemann, Foreign Minister Vandervelde of Belgium, Premier Briand of France, and Premier Baldwin of Great Britain. All these used ordinary pens but Foreign Secretary Chamberlain took up a gold quill to add his name. Signor Scialoja for Italy, Count Skrzynski for Poland and Dr. Benes for Czechoslovakia completed the signatures. Then the arbitration pacts negotiated at Locarno were rapidly passed to the delegates.

In a brief 10 minutes the efforts of months of negotiation had been localized and the nations involved had sworn faithfully to observe the historic compact. As Chancellor Luther bent to affix his signature to the four sheets of foolscap size paper comprising the main document a score of cameras clicked. The German statesman raised his head and with a smile bowed in the direction of the cameras.

Secretary Chamberlain and Premier Briand leaned forward and nodded their heads in approval at each other and then their German colleague. When the pact had been signed Secretary Chamberlain rose and handed "Chancellor Luther the alien interpretation of Article XIV of the League of Nations."

FINDS STORES WERE VIOLATING FRESH EGG LAW

Sanders Warns Merchants and Sellers That Stocks Must Be Genuine

With fresh eggs so scarce that some stores are almost unable to obtain them, Theodore Sanders, deputy health officer, has had a busy time the last few weeks, inspecting stocks of food establishments to see that the labeling law was being enforced. No merchant is allowed to sell storage eggs representing them as being fresh.

Mr. Sanders found several instances where merchants were not properly testing the eggs they bought and took the word of the farmer that they were fresh. The eggs were displayed as fresh stock and were sold at prices somewhat higher than the consumer was paying for the storage variety.

It was found by the officer that practically none of the violations was intentional. The merchant was either negligent as to whether the eggs had been in storage, or had failed to test supposedly fresh supplies to make sure they were fresh.

Mr. Sanders tested the eggs himself in each instance and was obliged to warn several merchants that they must cease violating the law. "I have given them a chance to amend their ways," he said, "and if I find these conditions continuing I will be obliged to make some arrests and take the offenders into court."

It has been found necessary to watch farmers who are bringing eggs to the city during the season. Mr. Sanders has been called to several stores and shown eggs that were not strictly fresh although represented to be such. He finds that keepers of poultry have been holding onto fresh eggs until the prices were real high and then dumping them to market. He warns these people that the law is to be enforced, whether they deliver to stores or private homes. The aim is to protect the consumer both from misrepresentation and high prices.

Santa Claus Letters Arrive At Postoffice

The first letter received at the post-office this year addressed to Santa Claus was mailed the latter part of last week. It was addressed to St. Clause, North Pole, but as the addresser forgot to attach the necessary postage, the missive has not yet been placed aboard the North Pole express. The usual list of letters intended for delivery to Santa Claus is expected during the next few weeks.

All letters of this nature are either turned over to some benevolent organization or sent to the dead letter office. In years gone by it was the custom of these charitable organizations to ask for Santa Claus letters at the postoffice, investigate the circumstances of the parents of the addresser and, if conditions warranted, to send the child at least some of the gifts he asked for. Most of these organizations have gone out of existence now, so the majority of the letters finally end their journey in the dead letter office.

Many letters are addressed to Santa Claus in care of one of the local department stores. Such missives are delivered to the department stores, and are disposed of as the stores see fit.

BUSSES AND RAILROADS
Railroad employees throughout the United States are becoming concerned, and justly so, about the competition of the motor busses in the transportation field. We have before us some editorial matter prepared by the railroad employees which emphasizes the danger to their employment, and indirectly to their employment, from this competition. The statement is made that "the very life of our railroads is threatened by the unfair competition of busses and trucks." It is declared that in 1924 nearly 55,000,000 fewer passengers were carried by the railroad than in 1923, and that the revenue of the railroads from this source was cut $72,000,000. This means, it is added, "that the railroads had $72,000,000 less with which to buy the things that were needed," and "of every dollar received by the railroads, forty to fifty cents is paid out in wages, which meant that in 1924 there were $36,000,000 less for the railroad workers."

As further indicating the seriousness of this competition, it is declared that in 1924 1,800,000 persons were in the direct employ of the railroads, while in the larger industries, like mining, steel and lumber works, some 500,000 more were dependent upon the railroad market for their livelihood. Hence, the buying power of more than 2,200,000 men and women is dependent upon the prosperity of the railroads, and they represent an aggregate, with their families, of approximately 10,000,000 persons. Finally, it is pointed out that the railroads themselves in 1924 spent $1,312,055,000, which shows their own buying power. In their payments toward the cost of government and public improvements the railroads are equally important. In 1924 class one railroads, for instance, paid federal, state and local taxes amounting to $310,312,067, or more than $3 for every man, woman and child in the country. To pay this huge sum the employees say the railroads were compelled to use the earnings from 35,000 locomotives, 1,250,000 freight cars, 30,000 passenger coaches and 825,000 employees. Continuing, they ask:

What does this mean to the merchants, to the business men? Here is a concrete example: The Boston & Albany railroad runs through Canaan, N. Y., a town having a population of 1,455. In 1924 the Boston & Albany paid as share of Canaan's tax bill $10,122.88, or 7.5 per cent of the town's entire taxes and almost $16 for every man, woman and child in Canaan. Yet the Boston & Albany had only its right of way, side tracks, a freight and passenger depot in that town.

What did it mean to the merchants of Canaan? It meant that the residents of Canaan had just $16 more to spend for food, for clothing and for luxuries. Every business man, every merchant, whether he sold butter and eggs or wallpaper, shared in that $16.

Today the competition of the busses with the railroads is on the short haul. In some parts of the country the busses have forced the cancellation of trains. Some have been taken off in this locality on that account. Ultimately either railroad service or the busses must go in the short haul field. If it is the railroads, it will mean loss of employment to hundreds of thousands of employees, loss of millions of dollars in taxes, loss of millions of dollars in business to producers which are furnishing the railroads with equipment and supplies. The country is more dependent upon the railroads for the prosperity, next to agriculture, than upon any other industry. They must be paying, not losing railroads.

When the railroad employees speak of unfair competition by the busses, they mean the fact that busses are furnished by the state with improved roads free of charge, that they pay very little in taxes, furnish little employment and create a relatively small buying power. We think there is justice to this contention. The development of the bus is so recent and so rapid that we have not yet given it its proper status. However, it presents a problem that demands legislation and public attention. Of course, if the motor bus can stand on its own bottom and pay its way as it should, it is here to stay and must be reckoned with. But before it is conceded this status it should be made to bear its proper overhead, based upon the use of the highways, franchise rights, taxes, etc. The railroads and their employees are amply justified in protesting against the privileges extended to the busses to-day, and the freedom from legitimate overhead with which they are permitted to operate.

HOW MUCH IS A BANDIT WORTH
We quote the following from the Chicago Tribune:
America once more is on the frontier. On the frontier there is no law. Instead there are notices of rewards for bandits, dead or alive, preferably dead, and the law is a primitive thing left to six lanes and six shooters. America has come to this pass.
The six bandits who shot Policeman Patrick O'Shea and carried with $57,500 belonging to the Postoffice National bank are worth $2,000 apiece to the person or persons who capture them alive. They are worth $5,000 apiece to the person or persons who can deliver them dead.
It is an artistic picture except that where "America" is used, the word "Chicago" should be substituted. Why spoil the picture with an overdrawn perspective? As for the worth of a bandit in Chicago dead or alive, we think the price fixed is too high. Like everything else, even in the case of bandits, it should be determined by the law of supply and demand.

FOOLISH TAX PLAN
There is a proposal to exempt all income, under $5,000 from federal taxation. It is a vote-getting device pure and simple. Some 2,000,000 or more families would be affected by this apparent generosity on the part of the government, and the politicians will not overlook the possibilities of such benevolence.

The treasury department is said to be opposed to the scheme. If the government gives up this substantial source of income, it must make it up in some direction, and it must make it up in some other direction, and that will mean in the fields of production. In other words, the people will be compelled to pay the tax indirectly on food supplies, clothing, household goods, etc. Indirect taxes are always larger than direct taxes, for the simple reason that they are never definitely estimable in advance and prices are increased to take care of them with a liberal margin for additional profit. All indirect taxes that go into the necessities of living increase the price considerably more than the tax itself.

The public has yet to learn that it gets little relief by the wiping out of insignificant taxes on small taxpayers, and adding them on to the overhead of productive enterprise. One of these days it will see the fallacy of a tax system which conceals excessive taxes in high prices of commodities. If the politician's business is to make them shut their eyes to this economic fact, and to delude themselves with the idea that a dollar saved in direct taxes is of more concern to them than two dollars paid in indirect taxes.

TODAY'S POEM
By HAL COCHRAN
SUGGESTION
I have known a fellow whose name was—oh, well, I make little effort to remember it. I guess he was just how he managed to climb to success. He traveled through college and learned what he could, and passed on to the next grade. He was good. He was only a fellow for me to be proud. This fellow was a man, not a boy.
The world called him forth to the task he must do, and strange though it seems, there is one thing he knew. Despite his diploma, his head didn't turn. He felt that he still had a whole lot to learn.
In business, suggestion was one thing he craved. The more folk suggested, the harder he slaved. His knowledge of everything constantly grew through leading an ear to what other folk knew.
You, he was a fellow who had the right stuff. His trip to success was based upon bluff. Suggestion would come and he'd answer the call. He knew that no man ever quite knows it all.

THE EASY-RUNNING NOSE
Many individuals with sinusitis can tell the fairly well by the nose, when it is running, and some can tell time still better when their nose isn't running—the sinusitis headache comes on at a fairly regular hour every day.
A nose that doesn't run at all is certainly a rare possession. Our old cat had one until we brought him into the city and he met some of the fellows that haunt these environs.
Victims of hyperesthetic rhinitis will kindly run away and take their calcium lactate; we are dealing here with noses that are easy-running in bad weather. True, a hyperesthetic rhinitis often enough seems to be victims utterly without cause or provocation, for how is he to know that his calcium metabolism is deficient? And being at a loss to account for his sudden attacks of sneezing and sniffing up and running at the nose, it is natural enough for the poor deluded sufferer to trump up some real or imaginary exposure to draft, wet feet or change of weather or clothing as an explanation. Such misconceptions, however, constitute only a small share of the errors of observation or reasoning which bolster up the great "cold" delusion. A far larger share of erratic deductions of this order may be ascribed to the abnormal sensitivity of persons with low grade chronic nasal lesions to trifling mechanical disturbances of the circulation which would give a normal individual little or no discomfort.
Dr. E. A. V. Rogers, a nose and throat specialist who has studied this question, emphasizes the common habit of ignoring or overlooking such low grade nasal lesions.
Chronic sinus infection (ethmoid, sphenoid or frontal sinusitis), simple chronic rhinitis, chronic hypertrophic rhinitis (thickened turbinated bodies), nasal polyp, deformities which have resulted from old injuries of the nose, and infected tonsils are the usual "symptomless" lesions of this class.
In the majority of cases of low grade chronic nasal disease more or less "distinction under stress" as Dr. Rogers describes it, manifest itself when the affected individual is exposed to a draft or any of the insignificant environmental changes which all five people are exposed to a hundred times a day. It is very foolish about it, too, and asserts with great conviction and vehemence, as he hugs his nose back on his head, that in spite of all "theories" to the contrary, he never fails to catch cold if he sits in the breeze from an open window or in a room insufficiently heated. What his conception of a "cold" is, it would be hard to define, but the symptoms he dignifies with that name are generally a little stuffiness, running at the nose, or "flu" for a few minutes or an hour, or a long enough to confirm the delusion, but not long enough to amount to any definite illness.
"If I sleep at night with the window open and cold air blowing on my head," testifies such abnormal individual, who, of course, imagines his head is quite normal. "I wake in the morning with what is called neuralgia, but by wearing a cap I avoid this."
Well, wear a cap, then, if it gives you greater comfort. But it is absurd to imagine that the cold wind blowing on your head has anything to do with the ache or pain called neuralgia which you have next morning, if the wind was not discomforting to you while it was blowing over your head.
Any "exposure" to cold, wet, draft, or change of weather which is not discomforting to you at the moment can surely cause no subsequent injury or illness. That favorite old equivocation about the dire consequences to befall "some day if not now" is worn out and obsolete.
My advice to old folks or young folks who find ordinary drafts, changes of weather, wet feet and the like disturbing to the functions of the respiratory organs, is that they should undergo a careful health examination without delay, that the doctor may find out what the nasal pathology is and advise about its correction. If this were general practice, I feel certain that people generally would be much less foolish about "catching cold."

GERMAN CITIES SHOW GROWTH IN POPULATION
Country Has 46 Cities With More Than 100,000 Inhabitants

Die Tageliche Rundschau, Berlin.
According to the latest census, Germany has 46 cities which have more than 100,000 inhabitants. The total number of Germany's big city populations is 16,400,000 or 26.2 per cent of the entire population of Germany.
Since the census was taken when people were on their vacations, it is probable that there is a still bigger figure for the population of big cities in Germany than the census indicates; there may be even more than 46 cities which surpass the 100,000 limit.
Few German cities are smaller than they were before the war. Among them are Dresden, Kiel, Bremen, Elberfeld, Aachen, Mayence and Wiesbaden. Why Dresden should have gone back is hard to explain, but the decrease is very small. Kiel, of course, is getting less important because it is no longer a navy harbor as during imperial times. Bremen and Elberfeld are within the occupation zone in the Thuringia and suffered much from the occupation. Aachen was also occupied and so were Mayence and Wiesbaden.
Of course there are big cities which have grown despite the occupation, as for instance Cologne and Essen.
Prussia has 20 of the big cities; Bavaria and Saxony have four each. Berlin and Hamburg are the biggest cities in all Germany. Hamburg has more than 1,000,000 inhabitants, while Berlin has around 2,500,000. Cologne, Munich and Leipzig are the next biggest cities. They and Dresden have more than 500,000 inhabitants each.
That a huge metropolis is growing up in the Ruhr valley is clearly evident from this census. There are eleven big cities in the Ruhr region, with a total of 2,500,000 people. There is no doubt that 15 years from now these cities will be one. Such big city formations are obviously going on in other parts of Germany, too.

UPS AND DOWNS LITERARY REPUTATIONS
Recently I heard a lecturer on Dickens assert that the stock of Dickens is gradually climbing in the world and that of Thackeray is gradually going down. In almost the same breath he asserted that the stock of Tennyson is climbing and that of Browning is going down.
I believe that he was wrong in both of these statements. I am not asserting this as an absolute fact because an assertion of that kind is almost incapable of definite proof, but I believe it to be a fact that the literary reputations of Dickens and Thackeray are not outdistancing Browning. On the contrary, I believe that almost exactly the reverse is true—that Thackeray is gradually pulling ahead of his great rival and that Browning is doing the same with respect to Tennyson.
LIFETIME PLACE SURE
During the greater part of the lifetime of the four men there was no question of their relative positions. Dickens was miles and miles ahead of Thackeray in public regard during the greater part of the lives of both, and Tennyson was so far ahead of Browning until almost the end of Browning's life that there was no comparison between the two.
Both Dickens and Tennyson were distinctly "popular" writers. They were "best sellers" in their day, while both Thackeray and Browning had a hard struggle before they won public recognition. And it is true that both Dickens and Tennyson have distinguished followers today. Such a man for instance as Gilbert K. Chesterton is an almost fanatical worshiper of Dickens, and Dr. Henry Van Dyke is always ready to enter the lists for Tennyson against all comers. But my impression is that the general consensus of opinion today is that Thackeray was a greater novelist than Dickens and that Becky Sharpe is an achievement that Dickens has never equaled. Similarly my impression is that "Maud" and "Idylls of the Kings" and "The Princess" are distinctly second-rate as compared with "The Ring and the Book," "Saul," and a number of other Browning poems.
STILL RIVALS
It is rather odd that even today, three quarters of a century after their deaths, they should still be regarded as rivals. When they were alive and working they looked upon themselves as rivals and there are some curious parallels in their works which bring this out. Dickens and Thackeray each wrote a historical novel, the former "A Tale of Two Cities" and the latter "Henry Esmond." Dickens' book was immensely popular in its day, and Thackeray's moderately so. But I believe that it can safely be asserted now that "Henry Esmond" is by far the greater work of art. While friends on the surface, Dickens and Thackeray were not averse to getting ahead of one another in public esteem.
And Tennyson and Browning occupied somewhat the same position in the poetry of their day. Here for instance is a curious parallel. At the approach of death, or rather at the thought of the approach of death, each wrote a poem embodying his reactions to the idea. Tennyson's is called "Crossing the Bar" and his beautiful lines have sung themselves into the heart of the English-speaking world. Browning called his poem "Petrarch" and while his music is not so obvious to the untrained ear, it is one of the greatest poems in the English language and it has strength as well as beauty.
When two contemporary poets can be rivals on in discussion, death, their own death—the rivalry must certainly have been keen. And their followers have continued taking sides when they were no longer on earth to speak for themselves. And the same thing has been done by the followers of Dickens and Thackeray.
But it is in reality not necessary to pause one at the expense of the other. Both pairs of writers belong to English literature and there is no reason why one should not be a follower of all four at the same time.

The Question Box
Ask Frederic J. Haskin, Director of the Post-Crescent Information Bureau, whatever you want to know—health, business, etiquette, a household problem or a national one—Haskin can find out about it. He has the greatest library in the world to draw on, and he can reach the many scientific experts in the employ of the Government. He will go to the right source and quote you the authority. He is employed by the Appleton Post-Crescent to act as a free agent for the people. This is a service you can not afford to overlook. Write your question and your name and address plainly. Enclose a two cent stamp for return postage. Send it to The Information Bureau, Frederic J. Haskin, Director, Washington, D. C.
Q. As I do not have a clear understanding of what is meant by the terms "Physiological Psychology, Genetic Psychology, Behaviorism, Abnormal Psychology," etc., I am asking you for an explanation. M. P.
A. Physiological psychology studies the physical basis of mental life. Genetic psychology is concerned with the development of mental life in the species and the unfolding mental life of the individual. Abnormal psychology deals with the mental phenomena that are deviations from the normal but not regarded as disease. Social psychology traces the social aspects of mental life and their causation with anthropology, psychology, sociology, and history. Behaviorism is a purely objective study of human and animal life without reference to the testimony of consciousness.

Clubs Gives Reception To Speaker

Plans are being made for a reception for Mrs. Ruth Bryan Owen following the lecture which she will give at Lawrence conservatory on Friday evening, Dec. 4, the second number in Appleton Womens club series.

Few American women have had a more interesting and brilliant career than Ruth Bryan Owen, wife of major Owen of the British army and daughter of America's great Commander William Jennings Bryan.

Three years in the West Indies; three years in London; during the great war; three years in Egypt, and then a trip around the world—these have been incidents in a busy life touching intimately the peoples of many countries, before, during and after the war. All this gives her a wonderful fund of knowledge for her lecture subjects.

Mrs. Owen is devoted to her family and home in Florida and spends only a short season each year in lecture work.

Tickets for Mrs. Owen's lecture on Friday, and the two after-holiday numbers of the course, as well as single admissions, may be had at the womens club, from members of the ticket committee headed by Mrs. E. H. Krug, or at the door on the evenings scheduled.

FEWER CARS OF POTATOES LEFT IN STORAGE BINS

Shipments Are Below Last Year—Comparison of Nations Is Made

Waupaca—An easy tone has been maintained in the Waupaca potato market during the last week but there has been little or no trading according to W. H. Mosier, local representative of the Wisconsin department of markets.

Shipments are less than a year ago, but with the crop 7,000,000 bushels below 1924, the supply is much less in the hands of the grower and shipper. Wisconsin had shipped 139,575 cars up to this date a year ago, as compared with 129,121 cars this year.

With the United States as one of the greatest producers of foodstuffs in the world, the average person in this country gives perhaps little thought to the production of some of the leading products in other parts of the world. The potato is probably found in some form at least once every day on nearly every table of the entire country.

This year the United States division of crop estimates sets the production at 326,593,000 bushels or 71,245,000 bushels less than the five year average. The figures for this country are about one-fifth of those of Germany and nearly the same in comparison with those of Russia. The German crop this year has been placed at 1,337,500,000 bushels, and that of Russia at 1,627,039,000 bushels. Besides these two great crops the amount grown in Poland was more than three times that of the United States, Poland's crop being 1,049,102,000 bushels. Other countries produced as follows: England and Wales 100,651,000 bushels, Sweden 70,616,000, Belgium 95,165,000, Luxembourg 7,163,000, Austria 76,398,000, Czechoslovakia 268,367,000, Hungary 54,712,000, Estonia 22,461,000, Finland 21,944,000, Algeria 744,000, Great Lebanon 930,000 bushels.

The total production of the northern half of the world this year is now estimated to be 5,591,940,000 bushels which is figured to be an increase of 15.7 per cent over the yield of 1924. The United States alone of the large producers shows a decrease of 23.8 per cent under the estimate of a year ago. Canada raised 68,763,000 bushels or 27,850,000 bushels less than last year. Some importations are being made from Canada; however, the short crop there will not permit exportation to a very great extent. The authority for these figures is the United States department of agriculture and the Wisconsin department of markets which cooperate in their issue of the daily potato bulletin with W. H. Mosier, local representative, in charge.

Don't Let That Cold Turn Into "Flu"

That cold may turn into "Flu", Grippe, or, even worse, Pneumonia, unless you take care of it at once.

Rub Musterole on the congested parts and see how quickly it brings relief.

Musterole, made from pure oil of mustard, camphor, menthol and other simple ingredients, is a counter-irritant which stimulates circulation and helps break up the cold.

As effective as the messy old mustard plaster; does the work without blister.

Rub it on with your finger-tips. You will feel a warm tingle as it enters the pores, then a cooling sensation that brings welcome relief.

She Could Never Have Done It With Piles!

Bless the American girl who has glorified all the sports! She makes a pretty picture in the water, and is a plucky swimmer, too. Piles are unthinkable for active women. If you have them, you ought to know this simple thing to do!

At any hour or moment that you have the least distress or discomfort from piles, use a simple Pyramid pile suppository—and go happily on your way! The worst hemorrhoids, even bleeding and badly protruding piles, respond at once to the soothing suppository applied in perfect privacy. But bear the name in mind; Pyramid is the one every druggist has, usually the only one he will sell his patrons. Pyramid is marvelous! Why suffer another single half-hour with painful piles?

STAGE And SCREEN

TWINKLING TOES, COMEDY, SONG AND DANCE MAKE UP SHUG
The joy of a story told to music does not die easily. The motion pictures, in spite of their great popularity, have not lessened in the least the demand for musical comedy. Everywhere people are reacting to the speaking and singing stage, and seemingly enjoying more than ever the twinkling toes, the funny comedies and the glitter and holiday atmosphere that is the American musical comedy.

One of the latest musical extravaganzas to be chained a hit is the piece of Le Conte and Flesher's, known as "My China Doll," which is due at Fischer's Appleton Theatre Friday night, Dec. 4 when this novel of fey plays a return engagement here.

Here again will be seen a gorgeously mounted production combining such tunes as "The Land of Dreams," "How Do You Do Miss Ragtime," "Tales of the Blue Hills," "Jazzmania," "Rose and the Wedding of My China Doll" and "My China Doll" in a wonderful display of the wildest scenic effects and novelties, with a chorus of dancing and singing girls. Here again will be seen the beauty of eye-dazzling costumes, the beautiful stage settings, the electrical effects, and all the other wonders that are part of musical comedy.

Cecil Manners is playing the title role. She is pretty, agile, artful and fond of fun. She dances and sings through the lifting songs, in a way that has caused her to be acclaimed the "hit of the show." The balance of the cast includes Bessie DeMure, Lona Slater, Lottie Proctor, George Wakefield, Amos Harper, William T. Murphy, Tom Crowley, L. G. Milton and a kaleidoscope of smiling girls. Reports from nearby cities where "My China Doll" has shown, indicate that the attraction is something to look forward to seeing, and something to remember having seen.

ENTIRE RAILROAD DIVISION UTILIZED IN FILMING "THE OVERLAND LIMITED"

Seekers in search of a thrill have only to journey to the New Bijou Theatre this week and see the latest Gotham production, "The Overland Limited." It is impossible in a limited space to describe the rapid action and many exciting moments of this photoplay but if the reader can imagine a fast express train dashing along with a maniac creeping over the top of the engine to attack the engineer, the struggle in the cab and then the train running wild with a madman at the throttle. Then shift the scene to a new steel bridge with two men silently cutting through the girders with an acetylene torch. The train reaches the bridge and suddenly the bridge collapses plunging the steel monster into a raging torrent below.

The above are but a few scenes in this remarkable film.

James J. Tynan wrote the story which is an original, and it is a picture like "The Overland Limited" which proves conclusively that the literature of the screen is a distinct unit in itself.

Good clean melodrama is always desirable and one of the best examples of it on the screen is "The Overland Limited" now at the New Bijou today and Wednesday.

next 4 days. It is entitled "The Merry Widow." The production is a splendid piece of workmanship and shows Mae Murray and John Gilbert as co-stars, doing the best work of their varied and brilliant careers. Erich von Stroheim whose directorial genius immortalized "Foolish Wives" has fulfilled a similar function with "The Merry Widow."

Laid in a mythical Balkan kingdom, the picture reflects all the glamour, fascination and beauty of the Continent. The settings are nothing short of exquisite and the coronation sequence done in natural colors is of such beauty and splendor that it will long be remembered by all those fortunate enough to see the picture. The story is replete with surprises and moves at a pace that keeps the spectator enthralled during every moment of its unfoldment. It tells of the romantic adventures of a dashing young prince admirably well portrayed by John Gilbert and a vivacious Irish-American dancer (definitely characterized by Mae Murray). It is brimful with surprises and thrills, and its climaxes lead one to another with refreshing swiftness as a series of beautiful tableaux mark the progress of the plot.

Though the mood of the picture is dramatic, a delicate vein of humor appears throughout which serves to lighten and at the same time relieve the tenseness of the picture. The film is worthy of the most in praise and patronage for it lives up to the true reason for its existence in every respect, its first and last, real entertainment.

CODE OF SUCCESS IN BUSINESS IS GIVEN TO LIONS

Rosebush Tells Luncheon
Club How Businessman
Can Succeed in His Work

Judson C. Rosebush, president of the Patten Paper Co. named and discussed ten successful business practices, which he said he had observed during his 15 years of experience in the paper business, in an address at the weekly luncheon
of the Lions club Monday noon at the Conway hotel. The main course of the dinner was venison,
the gift of Dr. J. J.
Homes, a member of the club who recently returned from a hunting trip
in northern Michigan, bringing with him a 220 pound buck.
Mr. Rosebush said he hoped the business practices he outlined would help business managers and executives to greater success in their work.
He said that one of the first things he had to decide when entering the paper business was whether he should confine himself solely to that work, or interest himself in other enterprises and projects at a different sort.
He came to the conclusion that to make a real success in the business world he must work in one line of industry, and not try to branch out into diverse activities. "It is hard enough to make a real success of one's own business without trying to beat the other fellow at his own game," he said.

ROSEBUSH

The second important question was whether the earnings of the concern should be put back into the business or whether the earnings should be taken out. Mr. Rosebush said that those who put the earnings back into their business were by far the most successful in their enterprises. "This is the philosophy of taking hold of something that isn't very good, and making it a paying proposition," he said.

Every business man should have a certain amount of daring in his makeup, Mr. Rosebush said. Lives of men who have made an outstanding success in life have been featured by willingness to take a fighting chance when it is presented. Mr.
Rosebush added, however, that daring did not mean rashness, and said there were some persons who were merely rash, and their daring was not guided by sound thinking.

"Short contracts make long friends," Mr. Rosebush's fourth point. When a company makes a long contract it is assuming a great risk because of the fluctuations in prices which can take place during the duration of the agreement. The speaker said he did not wish to be bound by a long contract to do business with a person who might become dissatisfied and unfriendly, and yet be forced to continue business relations because of the terms of the agreement.

For his fifth business policy, Mr.
Rosebush advised being short on promises, but long on performances. It does not make much difference what one promises, he said, as long as he is able to carry out that promise. Too many people make large promises which they are unable to fulfill.

The sixth business maxim was "use persuasion instead of orders." Mr.
Rosebush explained that there were two philosophies in running a business, one of which is for the manager to act as commander in chief and issue orders to his subordinates and his workmen to obey to the letter. The other is persuasion in which the subordinates are allowed to shoulder some of the responsibility of the business, and do their own thinking. "If I have men associated with me who have not sufficient responsibility and judgment to go about their work without being continually ordered to do next, I no longer want them," Mr. Rosebush said.

The seventh principle was to stimulate the creative and thinking ability of men in one's employ, so they can think and act constructively.

The eighth point mentioned by Mr.
Rosebush was the taking of time off to meditate on the problems and needs of a business, instead of being taken up entirely with details.

For his ninth business principle Mr.
Rosebush advised sacrificing something from business for the sake of being a citizen of the community. He said there were some men who thought of nothing but their business, and neglected such desirable things in life as home, school, club, church and political interests.

"Deal with all men as if they were God's creatures on an equal basis with you," said Mr. Rosebush in discussing the truth principal in his business code. There has been a feeling among too many executives, he said, that their inferior officials, and their workmen were in a lower class, and the treatment of these people has not always been the best. Everyone in any way connected with a business concern is entitled to courteous attention.
Mr. Rosebush said in concluding his speech.

Paul O. Keicher, valley scout executive announced at the meeting that Raymond Wyland, a member of the national council of the Boy Scouts of America would be in Appleton Saturday and Sunday to conduct a training class in boy leadership, and urged that

FELAUER JURY IS QUICK TO SAY "GUILTY"

Moonshine Maker Is Found Guilty on Three Counts in Court Here

Henry Felauer, 326 W. Lawrence-st., charged with violation of the prohibition enforcement act, was found guilty on three of four counts by a jury of 12 men in the upper branch of municipal court Monday afternoon.

The jury found the defendant guilty of having a still in his possession, of having in his possession and of having illicit intoxicating liquor in his possession. He was found not guilty of a fourth count, that of selling intoxicating liquor without a license.

Judge Theodore Berg, before whom the case was tried will impose sentence on Felauer at 2 o'clock Friday afternoon.

OUT TEN MINUTES

The jury was out only about ten minutes before it returned the verdict. The case went to the jury late Monday afternoon.

Felauer was arrested Thursday, Oct. 1, by a raiding party composed of Chief of Police George T. Prim, Detective-sergeant Matthew McGinnis and Officers Albert Dellgen and Carl Radtke after they had searched the former's residence and uncovered a large still, crates of bottles and quantities of mash and illicit liquor.

He pleaded not guilty to charges of having this material in his possession when arraigned in municipal court that morning, and the case was adjourned to the following day.

Bond of $1,000 was furnished by the defendant. On the next day the case was again adjourned to Oct. 9 at which time the preliminary examination was held and he was bound over for trial.

This is the third time within the last 12 months that Felauer has been charged with moonshine activities. He was fined $100 last December on his conviction of the same charge.

EDUCATION IS OBSESSION IN AMERICAN LIFE

But Huge Investment in Education Is Paying Dividends. Plenzke Tells Luncheon Clubs

Menasha—“Nothing in American life has paralleled its abiding interest in education. It has almost become an obsession. Colleges and technical schools are outgrowing themselves; high school enrollments are doubling every decade; corporation schools and night schools abound, crowded with adults trying to regain lost opportunities; correspondence schools are doing a big business; widowed mothers slavishly earn for their children's schooling.” O. H. Plenzke, superintendent of schools, said in his address at the luncheon of Menasha club Tuesday noon on “Business and Education.” There was a large attendance.

“As this wonderful movement goes on,” he said, “the Apostle of Alarm admonishes us that we are going too far; that it is too expensive and threatens our economic stability. The question is not ‘can we afford it’ but ‘can we afford to neglect it?’”

EDUCATION PAYS—“Education does pay. Business looking for markets finds ‘them’ picking in the wilds of this earth. The unchristian, uneducated heathen has no desire or need for the fine goods we know and use. It is only the educated people who develop standards of living which create desires to have and buy.”

“The better educated the people the more goods they buy. Business leans heavily on education. Remove it and in three generations we would be in the midst of a howling wilderness.”

“Further than that we owe our progress in science, health, business and culture to our schools. Money is not expended on them, but makes an investment. Twice as much is paid for life insurance premiums annually as is expended for public education. Both are forms of insurance against the future.”

AGE-OLD ALARM—“The alarmist fears that the unquenchable desire for education will make all white-collared men. The same statement was advanced 50 years ago. An increasing number of high school graduates enter the trades. Everyone wants an education so that the world in which he moves will be more interesting and remove the dullness and gloom surrounding toil for toil's sake.”

“We can afford all it costs and more. Consider that we spend $2,000,000,000 annually for public education; $4,057,000,000 in 1924 for pleasure cars; $1,847,000 for cigars and cigarettes; $804,000,000 for theatres and amusements; and billions more for luxuries and the argument of excessive school costs falls flat.”

“Only the uninformed and the propagandaist ever try to use it at all. Education is the greatest productive force civilization has yet created.”

USE HEAVY BOAT TO BREAK UP ICE

Wooden Ware Company Craft Keeps Water Free of Ice So Logs Can Be Moved

Menasha—Menasha's ice crusher made its first appearance of the season Monday. It is a strongly constructed gasoline launch which belongs to the Menasha Wooden Ware company and which in the summertime is used for towing rafts of logs from the company's log pile to its plant on the bank of the government canal.

In the winter whenever the river freezes over it is used for breaking the ice and with its strong motive power has little trouble in forcing its way through. It is operated by two men at the rear who rock it as it crawls on top of the ice crushing it with its weight. Whenever the launch fails to break the ice it retreats and makes a second charge which is usually successful.

While the ice is several inches thick the launch had very little trouble Monday in getting through. It went down the government canal as far as Tayco's bridge where it turned around and returned to the log pile on the bank of Fox river.

COUNTY HARVESTS ITS BIGGEST CROP OF ALFALFA

LOSS BY FROST IS OVERCOME BY ADDED ACREAGE

New Testing System for Milk Announced in Amundson's Annual Report

More alfalfa was harvested in Outagamie-co in 1925 than ever before. Robert Amundson, county agricultural agent, told the county board of supervisors last week in submitting his annual report. Although from 37 to 67 per cent of the crop was lost because of winter killing, a tremendous increase in the number of acres seeded in 1924 accounted for the large crop.

That the frequency of cutting has much to do with winter killing was definitely established by a thorough investigation which Mr. Amundson conducted. It was discovered that from 54 fields, where the crop was harvested twice, 37 per cent was winter killed, while 67 per cent of the crop suffered a similar fate on 25 fields which were cut three times. This proves that too frequent cutting lowers the resistance power of the crop, according to Mr. Amundson.

IMPROVE SHIPPING
Return of freight cars with partitions has been effected by Outagamie-co shippers, the report of Mr. Amundson stated. A vigorous protest was made by the county association of shippers, which is composed of various shipping organizations in the county, against the removal of partitions in cars, with the result that railroad companies are returning this type of car again for the first time in several years.

The county association of shippers held quarterly meetings and deals with such problems as car service, rates, etc. Both the Chicago and Northwestern and the Soo Line live stock representatives have met with the association and have adjusted car shortages and general service. Much data on rates and classifications were gathered and presented at the hearing on railroad rates recently held in Chicago, and a 2-per cent reduction on shipping rates for hogs is now in effect.

There are now four regular cow testing associations in the county, according to his report. A system of testing milk by mail has been devised after a period of experimentation lasting about three years. The system has already proven a success, as from one-half to one-third of the normal expenditures have been saved, and the difficulties of handling and transporting the tester has been done away with. More milk can also be tested in a shorter period of time.

SAMPLES BY MAIL
The system consists of shipping samples of the milk to be tested to one main office in specially constructed containers. This eliminates the necessity of the tester traveling about the county.

There are now over a hundred members testing milk this way, and 2,100 runs are being tested monthly. It is not unreasonable to suppose that as many as 500 herds or 12,000 cows will be included in cow testing association records within the next two or three years in the county, in the opinion of Mr. Amundson, a mark which never could be reached by the old method.

In connection with the college of agriculture of the University of Wisconsin, 28 plots of alfalfa and grain mixtures were grown in the county and the effect on yields carefully determined. Results show that in every case mixtures of grains yielded from 4 to 28 per cent more than the same kind of grains grown alone. Barley, wheat, oats, flax and mixtures were grown.

The cabbage association conducted considerable work in connection with the growing and distributing of pure seeds. The association grew its own seed and distributed it for $3.50 a pound, a price much lower than the retail price. Members saved from $10 to $35 each on their seed.

Milk Prices Keep Above Prices Paid During 1924

Milk prices have climbed an average of 13 cents a hundred pounds over the amount paid farmers in the state last year, according to figures announced by Paul O. Nyhus of Madison, agricultural statistician. His November reports also show a gain in the number of silos in Outagamie-co and surrounding localities, and a decrease in farm property values.

Somewhat of a market recovery has taken place in milk production. The average price paid farmers for the first ten months of 1925 was $2.66 a hundred pounds. A decline took place in 1924 to $1.75 and the first ten months this year show a return to an average of $1.88. Milk is selling below the peak of January, 1923, however, when $2.40 was paid.

Outagamie-co produced 3,300 acres of potatoes this year, the figures further indicate an average of 121 bushels to the acre. The total production is 399,300 bushels. Corn yield was 53 bushels to the acre.

Last year Outagamie-co had 2,658

COLOR STANDARD FOR HONEY IS SET BY U. S.

Washington—The bee culture laboratory of the United States Department of Agriculture has perfected a color grader for honey which will standardize the sale of this product.

The five standard color grades listed are water white, white, light amber, amber and dark. Two additional grades needed by western beekeepers have been established and are designated as extra white and extra light amber.

The flavor of the honey and the price are usually associated with the color. Light colored honey usually brings the highest price.

In the marketing of honey, the flavor and color must be described to the purchaser in the terms which shall conform to the standards set up by the Department of Agriculture.

SHEEP RAISING IS CALUMET-CO LABOR SOLUTION

Peik and Paulsen Will Experiment With New Flocks Bought in West

Special to Post-Crescent.
Chilton—W. D. McMiller and Carl Peik went to St. Paul recently and purchased 100 Shropshire sheep, 25 purchased, the remainder grades. These sheep were bought for Carl Peik and William Paulsen, town of Charlestown, who are making a start in sheep raising as a means of meeting the problem of securing the necessary farm laborers.

Farm help has grown so scarce and the level of wages for farm laborers so high that many farmers in Calumet-co during the last year decided to get along as best they could without resorting to hired help. The experiment of Mr. Peik and Mr. Paulsen will be watched with great interest by other farmers.

Today farmers have the exact opposite of the problem that confronted the English people between the years 1550 and 1550. During that century the great export wool trade to the Netherlands changed England from a wheat field to a sheep pasture. A few men could care for thousands of sheep, while a large number of men were needed to handle the wheat that might be grown on the land necessary to pasture the sheep. The colony of Virginia was founded to make homes for the English laborers who were displaced on the farms of England when that country changed from wheat raising to sheep raising. Then the abundance of sheep on the farms of England drove the farm laborers out of the country; today, the scarcity of labor on the farm calls back the sheep.

If farm laborers continue to drift from the farms because of the high scale of wages paid in manufacturing centers, farmers will of necessity have to modify their present mode of farming to meet this condition, which tends to grow more serious each succeeding year. It would appear that any type of farming that demands relatively few laborers and at the same time produces a reasonably profitable return would appeal to farmers in their attempt to solve the question of adequate labor supply on farms.

Calumet-co, like all dairy portions of Wisconsin, is well adapted to sheep raising because of the certainty of good pasture and the abundance of proper shelter.

Sheep raising in the United States is of two distinct types. In the western part the sheep is raised mainly for its wool. And such is the response of nature to environment that the west has developed a type of sheep whose long wool protects him from the extremes of weather in that section. Thousands of western sheep are, of course, brought into the corn belt every year before being brought to the stockyard. In the eastern states the sheep is raised mainly for mutton, with wool as a byproduct. Many of the eastern sheep owners make a specialty of rearing their lambs in the winter season and sending them to market early in the year when they command a high price. Calumet-co farms, with their warm and commo-

SHOWS CHEESE UNION'S VALUE

Analysis of State Market Expert Reveals Plymouth Board Success

Madison—(AP)—Accomplishments of the Wisconsin Cheese Producers' federation, a pioneer in the field of cooperative marketing in the state, are analyzed by William Kirsch, in charge of research for the state department of markets, in a bulletin which is being published.

The history of the federation shows, according to Mr. Kirsch, that while such an organization cannot always be expected to produce immediate results, ultimately it helps improve the economic situation of the producers.

"The Wisconsin Cheese Producers' federation," states Mr. Kirsch, "is considered one of the foremost agricultural commodity organizations of the country. Its history is the record of continuous progress and expansion. In divious barns, are splendidly equipped for this eastern type of the sheep industry.

1914 it marketed 6,108,450 pounds of cheese, while in 1924, it marketed 28,496,198 pounds. Moreover, the number of warehouses which it owns increased from one warehouse in Plymouth to eleven warehouses scattered over the states including one in Minnesota.

"The agitation which led to the organization of the federation was caused by an unwarranted decline in the price of cheese in the summer of 1912. The farmers became aroused over the method of price determination which made such sharp fluctuations possible. State Senator Krumrey, a farmer of Plymouth, took up the fight for the interests of the farmers themselves."

The bulletin describes the part taken in the struggle by others, particularly the late Dr. Charles McCarthy, chief of the Wisconsin Legislative reference library.

"The efforts of Dr. McCarthy and Henry Krumrey were crowned with success and the federation began operating in 1914," said Mr. Kirsch. "In 1921 E. G. Swoboda became general manager and the federation undertook an extensive program of expansion and new warehouses were added. Recently the Twin City Milk Producers' association, a farmer's cooperative organization with about 3,500 members, voted unanimously to market its cheese through the Wisconsin Cheese Producers' association and their product added to the cheese which the federation markets through its Time

PROFITS FROM BEES GIVE HIM LIFE START

St. Paul—J. H. Ratley, who is one of the state's leading beekeepers, began his work in 1916 with 21 colonies housed in old box gums.

Ratley now has over 800 colonies scattered in various apiaries in the vicinity of St. Paul. His income is sufficient to allow him to pay the government a generous tax each year.

"Ratley's success in beekeeping is another of our modern fairy tales with the exception that it is true," says C. L. Sams, extension beekeeping specialist for the North Carolina State College.

"I first began work with him," Sams continues, "when we had only Island branch will give the federation 80 per cent of all the cheese produced in Minnesota."

The bulletin describes the accomplishments of the federation, laying particular stress upon stabilization of prices, improvement in quality, reduction of expenses and educational work.

21 colonies and gave them such attention as he could spare from his labor as a section hand on railroad.

"Now Ratley is considered one of the foremost beekeepers and supplies the country with a large amount of honey each year."

Cured His Rupture

I was badly ruptured while lifting a trunk several years ago. Doctors said my only hope of cure was an operation. Trusses did me no good. Finally I got hold of something that quickly and completely cured me. Years have passed and the rupture has never returned, although I am doing hard work as a carpenter. There was no operation, no lost time, no trouble. I have nothing to sell, but will give full information about how you may find a complete cure without operation, if you write to me, Eugene M. Pallen, Carpenter 854 M. Marcellus Ave., Manassas, N. J. Better cut out this notice and show it to any other who are ruptured—you may save a life or at least stop the misery of rupture and the worry and danger of an operation.

LETTER FROM LESLIE PRESCOTT TO THE LITTLE MARQUEE--CONTINUED

With my key in my hand I began to think that nothing else mattered. What mattered if I saw the face of admiration in another person's eyes? What mattered if I felt the warm clasp of Syd's hand and knew he was particularly glad to see me? What mattered if I even Jack of fortune neglected or tried to pay me great attention?

There was nothing in the world, except these two boys. Almost under my breath I began to sing that exquisite poem of Carlo Jacobi-Bonds. As children do, Jack had adopted that song for his own and insisted upon hearing it twice at "Sleep" time.

I sat there, crying the song and thinking. I did not hear the door into the hall open but looked up as John came in on his bedroom.

Jackie stared a little at the noise, opened his heavy eyes and murmured "Daddy" and snuggled a little closer.

A voice behind me murmured "Back. I wonder if you realize how fortunate you are?" "Pardon me, Leslie, until I opened the door, I did not know you were in the nursery. I thought you were still sleeping, and just wanted to look in and see the babies before I went downstairs."

With a smile I got to my feet. Jack tenderly took his son from my arms as I went forward to welcome our guest. Syd clasped both my hands in his and then over and kissed them each.

"As I came in," he said, "I thought I was seeing that far-famed Madonna of the Snows."

I felt myself flush a rose red but managed to say that it was a very pretty composition which I was afraid I didn't deserve.

Jack interrupted me. "I'm sure Leslie, that the boy has missed your lovely new gown."

"Not enough to be noticed," said Leslie, smiling and.

My husband came forward with a smile of admiration in his eyes. "Yes, old chap, I think I know how fortunate I am. No man's letter knows when he is lucky."

Then he turned to me. "You look like a snow maid, dear. I'm afraid to kiss you for fear you will melt."

Eagerly I leaned up into his face. There was a tenderly quizzical smile upon his lips. No one knew better than Jack how quickly the "Snow Maiden" would melt to his caress.

INTERSTATE PRO LOOP GETS STARTED THURSDAY

APPLETON CAGE TEAM OPENS YEAR WITH SHEBOYGAN

Lineup Slightly Weakened by Absence of Packer Gridders Invasives Chair City for Opener

WEEK'S SCHEDULE
Wednesday—APPLETON AT BELLOIT (Cancelled).
Thursday—APPLETON AT SHEBOYGAN.
Onto to Two Rivers.
Friday—Onto to Fond du Lac.

Crippled in the first tilt of the season by the loss of four regulars who are in the east playing football with the Green Bay Packers, Appleton's professional cage team will open its case season Thursday evening at Sheboygan. However, Manager Kolb has made preparations for the emergency in great style with the result that two former cage stars and a former Appleton high man will work in the reorganized lineup and at least one Jimmy Laffin, former Beloit star, will remain with the locals. The four men who will not be in suits for the initial game of the local squad are Basing, Lawrence, guard; Wilkins, Indiana, guard; Kotal, Lawrence, forward; Norton, old Minneapolis Globetrotter, forward. The Kolbits were scheduled to open at Beloit Wednesday evening with the Packers as opponents but this game was cancelled and Sheboygan at Sheboygan Thursday evening at Oconto at Oconto on Dec. 10 will start things for the locals. It is expected that the Packer gridmen will be back in time to start at Oconto against the crack squad from that town, a team known as especially hard to beat at the home floor. Two more games away from home, one at Two Rivers on Dec. 11, the night after the Oconto game and one at Fondy on Dec. 13, will be played before the Kolbits appear at home.

By this time the Packer stars will be worked in and the squad will have three games together under its belt, so that when they meet the crack Beloit Fairly squad here in the initial home game on Dec. 21, they will be able to show Appleton cage fans a real article of ball and a squad which will compare favorably with any pro group in the west. All of the loop teams except Beloit, victim of the cancelled game go into action this week with Oconto playing at Two Rivers, Thursday night and Oconto at Fondy Friday night.

The Appleton lineup for the first game will be as follows: Bushey, left guard; Jacobson, forwards; McAuliffe, center; Christoph, Scheurle and Kubitz, guards; Christoph, coach at Neenah high and former Lawrence cage captain, will play the guard job just one game as will Scheurle, former Orange and Kimberly-Clark cage man. Laffin has been signed for the season.

When Bushey, Laffin and McAuliffe work together three stars who have cooperated on crack squads turned out by Coach Tommy Mills at Beloit will be seen in action. Mac and Jimmy were the biggest stars in sending the Goldenrod to two straight Midwest titles and Bushey played before that time. Appleton fans will remember Laffin as one of the best shots ever to appear here during his college career. The little curly headed forward beat Lawrence many times with his dead eye from the basket from any part of the floor and the Blues usually tried to hold a man on him the entire game. When Beloit won the title and trimmed Lawrence here two years ago, the shooting of Laffin and Mac were the deciding factors. Jimmy sinking several fans from midfloor. Even in Alexander a few years before, Jimmy could put shots under the low ceiling. His addition to the local squad will be a great aid this season.

In the second game with the Oconto crew Appleton's complete all-star lineup will read as follows: Norton, Laffin, Kotal and Bushey, forwards; McAuliffe, center; Basing, Wilkins, and Kotal, guards. The local squad is working hard for the opening battle.

OLD HOD ELLER NOW IS TRAFFIC DIRECTOR

Indianapolis. —(AP)—While Dutch Reuther's good left arm was helping the Washington Americans win their second pennant this summer, Hod Eller was giving his right arm a daily workout directing traffic at an Indianapolis street intersection.

Reuther and Eller pitched Cincinnati to a world's series title over the Chicago White Sox in 1919.

The ups and downs of baseball took Reuther from Cincinnati eventually to an important place in Washington's pennant dash. Eller remained in the majors one year after his sensational pitching of 1919, drifted to the Indianapolis American Association team and then to Little Rock in the Southern Association. He quit organized baseball this year and became an Indianapolis policeman.

SHAWANO PIN SQUAD WHIPS ELK LEAGUERS

Shawano Bakery bowling team slammed the pins hard to whip the Cocoonut team of the Elk League Saturday evening in a game rolled on the Elk alleys. The Shawano squad took two out of three wins and galloped off with the match by a 46 pin margin. A return match will be rolled at Shawano in the near future and the Cocoonuts expect to take ample revenge. The Shawano men took the first game by 36 pins and the second by 20 pins, that a 16-pin comeback by the local crew in the final tilt was worthless.

HOREMANS LEADS JAKE SCHAEFFER IN MATCH

Chicago—Bourne Horemans, Belgian challenger of Young Jake Schaeffer, world champion 153 ball line billiard player, has a 19.2 point advantage on the title as a result of their first block of 500 in the 1,500 point match Monday night.

The European cue artist though playing practically as well as Schaeffer, ran out his block of 500 in eight innings, with a high run of 236 in the

WISCONSIN BOY IS CALLED BEST OF FULLBACKS

Ernie Nevers Has No Weakness Says Man Who Coached Jim Thorpe, Willie Heston

New York — Jim Thorpe had his weakness, Field Yost his revenge. Babe Ruth his preference, and Knute Rockne his powder puff performer. All these became known at a dinner here last night when the four great football coaches, Glenn Warner of Stanford, Tad Jones, Yale; "Hucry up" Yost of Michigan; Knute Rockne of Notre Dame, gathered to discuss All-American football selections. Newspapermen present were permitted to present one question to each coach.

Ernie Nevers, Stanford fullback, a Wisconsin boy is the greatest football player I ever have seen," said Warner, and I have coached Jim Thorpe and seen Willie Heston of Michigan many times. Nevers has no weakness so far as I can see. He does everything.

"Thorpe had a weakness, characteristic of the Indian race, carelessness. It might be termed. I remember one day that Carlisle played Pennsylvania while I was coach of the Indians. He won the game by something like 34 to 27. Thorpe was in our backfield and a long in the latter part of the game a Pennsylvania man caught a forward pass over the goal line for touchdown. Thorpe could have knocked down the pass.

"When the chance came, I asked him why he had not batted down. 'Oh I didn't think he had a chance to get it,' was Jim's reply."

A year ago at the coaches meeting in New York Fielding Yost said that he had been unable to coach the Michigan team that year his duties in connection with intramural athletics compelling him to turn the work over to George Little. At that time, Bob Zuppke of Illinois asked if Yost had "quit coaching" in the middle of the Illinois game, which proved Rod Grange's greatest success. Yost reddened and said:

"Just for that, that I'll coach the Michigan team next year and I'll see you at Champaign."

Last night Yost recalled the happenings of a year ago.

"You know what happened at Champaign," he said. "Well, I didn't see Zuppke after the game." The score was 3 to 0 in Michigan's favor.

It was Babe Ruth's turn. A newspaper man asked him what position he would prefer to play if he played football.

"Come back" said Ruth.

The ball was handed to Rockne. "I once had a powderpuff lad on a squad of mine" the producer of the "Four Horsemen" said. "In one way or another he managed to get within five minutes of his letter, and so in the last game of the season he came to me between the halves and begged that I put him in for at least the five minutes he needed."

"No, No, I'm saving you" I consoled him and then I forgot about it.

"The game ended, the boy without his letter. There was a shout behind me. 'What were you saving me for?' what were you saving me for?" came the yell.

"For the Junior prom" I answered and walked out of football for that season."

Yost, coach of the Western Conference championship Michigan team, said of Benny Friedman, quarterback on the Wolverines, "He was the leading scorer of the western conference, but not once inside of an opponent's 25 yard line did Friedman call his own signal. All of his success was made on kicks or punts from punts a scrimmage beyond the 25 yard line."

BADGER BALL SQUAD STARTS YEARS WORK

Madison. —(AP)—Baseball practice opened at the University of Wisconsin today, with only fifteen new candidates for the varsity team on the roster. Coach Guy Lowman expected, however, that additional recruits would be in uniform later.

Coach Lowman set the early practice schedule for the purpose of looking over his material for the coming season. He said the men who reported today would have three weeks advantage over the veterans who will not report until after Christmas.

A tentative schedule of six games has been arranged for the annual southern training trip and others are in prospect. The schedule includes:

April 2—St. Louis university at St. Louis.

April 5 and 6—Mississippi university at University, Miss.

April 7 and 8—Mississippi College at Clinton, Miss.

April 12—Union university at Jackson, Tenn.

Negotiations are under way for games on April 9 and 10 with either Tulane or some Texas university.

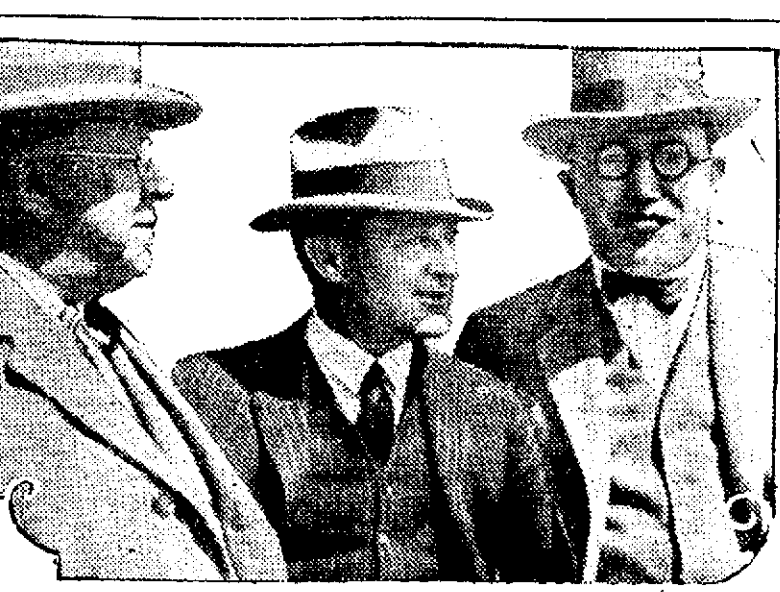

fifth and 124 and 103 in the first two trips to the table.

Schaeffer's best was 146 for an average of 43 and a score of 301.

They play the second block Tuesday night.

Salt Lake City — Johnny O'Brien, Boston, knocked out Pat Gilbert, Salt Lake, in the second round of their six round bout.

TRY NOVEL TRAINING STUNT

Asheville, N. C. — Providing plans now being considered develop, the Yankees and Dodgers will test a new spring training camp system next year by teaming up and coming to Asheville, N. C., for 10 days or two weeks, playing each other daily.

President Dan Hill of the Asheville club has suggested the stunt and both Robinson and Huggins have reported in favor of it. The scheme would eliminate one-day stands and tiresome jumps from town to town, such as the major league clubs run into every spring.

Robinson and Huggins have both visited Asheville and were pleased with the large park and drawing power of the city. A plans of 49,000, that turned out 110,000 paid admissions during 1924 and 1925 for a second division outfit in a league not permitting Sunday baseball.

FIRPO TO STAGE SOPH STARS HAVE RING COMEBACK BIG GRID SEASON

"Wild Bull of Pampas" Will Work Self Up to Another Bout With Champ Dempsey

Buenos Ayres. —(AP)—Luis Angel Firpo, the Argentine heavyweight champion, is about to stage a return to the pugilistic arena in the U. S. "I will go back to the U. S. and reenter the boxing ring, ready to fight one of the best who may present himself until I have once more clinched a bout with Jack Dempsey," said Firpo.

Many months after he was beaten by Dempsey in the Polo Grounds, Firpo said he is not convinced that Jack is a better man than he.

"The wild bull of the Pampas," as Firpo is known here has used much of his time in selling American automobiles and accessories. Just now he is engaged in portraying the hero in a motion picture which is being filmed in Buenos Aires. His business activities have kept him so busy that he has rejected all offers to fight, notwithstanding tempting purses. He intends to leave Argentina next March. He will first go to London and take on all comers. He will then go to Canada before visiting the U. S.

Word from Los Angeles is that Jack Dempsey is willing to give Firpo another fight with Los Angeles the battle grounds.

Dempsey said the fight could take place before he meets Harry Wills in July. The champion added that he was ready to meet Firpo or any other opponent, as he felt that perhaps the public desired him to fight more frequently. A match in Los Angeles could be for ten rounds to a decision or 12 rounds without a decision.

BLUE CAGERS IN FIRST WORKOUTS

Three 1925 Regulars and Several Reserves Report to Denny for Trial Monday

Passing, pivoting and shooting were the dish for candidates for Coach A. C. Denny's 1926 cage squad at the first practice Monday evening at Alexander gymnasium. A small squad reported, including three of last year's first five men and a number of 1925 reserves. John "Jake" Zussman, 1925 captain, unable to report because of a knee injury received in the Carroll football game, watched the initial workout from the sidelines.

Members of last year's squad in suits were Ashman, center; Bries and Grove, guards; Heideman, Gault and Clark, forwards. Roy Sind of Neenah, regular center on the 1925 Blue squad also was in a suit as was a new man, who formerly played in the state normal school conference. Others expected to report within a few days are Steensland, reserve guard, and Johnson, reserve forward of 1925. Zussman's leg injury will keep him out at least six weeks and with Eddie Kotal out of school, only three regulars from last year will be available to Denny in his drive to retain his double crown, the state and midwest titles won last year.

A fine frosh crew is in suits, but they are ineligible until the second semester when they will have to be worked in with the regs before seeing competition. Prospects are fair for the season to date with the ability with which the new men can be put into a workable combination with the vets determining how successful the season will be. Denny's teams are fighting crews and in spite of bad breaks, Lawrence fans hope for another big season.

STRUTZ-WEISSGERBER COP WHIRLIGIG MEET

Totalling a mark of 1,218 Saturday on the Elk alleys, a combination composed of H. Strutz and A. Weissgerber topped the Elk Whirligig doubles tournament off the week and were awarded the 1925 prize. E. Phillips of the Traction Co. loop polled high score of the week and also of the year so far when he shot out a 264, displacing Henry Marx. Strutz shot 158, 253, 217 for a 628 mark in the doubles while Weissgerber chimed in with 186, 196, 204 for a 580 and a 1,218 doubles total.

MINNESOTA WANTS MORE LEAGUE TILTS

Minneapolis. —(AP)—Demands of Minnesota and other northern teams of the Western Conference for more Big Ten games are likely to be the weightiest matters at the session of coaches to arrange their 1926 schedules here Saturday.

The Gophers this year had only three games, Michigan which finished the title lead had six, Minnesota at least five.

Buffalo. —(AP)—Tiger Flowers, Atlanta negro middleweight, won a decision over Benny Ross in six rounds.

OSHKOSH IS TIED IN NORMAL CHASE

River Falls, Sawdusters Go Through Season Without Loss; Hancockmen Tied Once

Milwaukee. —(AP)—The official standing of the state normal football conference, just closed, gave River Falls and Oshkosh a tie for the championship. With Eau Claire finishing third, Whitewater fourth, La Crosse, Milwaukee and Stout tied for fifth place, and Platteville, Stevens Point and Superior tied for last place.

River Falls won all four of its games and made 49 points. Oshkosh won three and lost one, with a total of 72 points. Neither River Falls or Oshkosh was scored upon by conference opponents.

Eau Claire had three wins and one defeat. The team lost to River Falls early in the season, 6 to 0.

Whitewater, finishing behind Eau Claire, won two games and lost two. The team won from Milwaukee and Platteville and lost to Stevens Point and Oshkosh.

La Crosse, Milwaukee and Stout each won a game and lost two and tied one each.

Stevens Point, Superior and Platteville each won a game and lost three each.

BRITTON SIGNED TO PLAY WITH "GRANGERS"

Chicago. —(AP)—Earl Britton, full back on the University of Illinois football team for three years, was signed to a two football contract by George Halas and Ed Sternaman, owners of the Chicago Bears. The terms of the contract were not announced.

The signing of Britton gives Red Grange one of his old running mates to play alongside of him in future games with the Bears. Britton's interference and kicking has been pointed out to by many fans as a big factor in Grange's great rise in the football world and his addition to the Bear roster should aid the red head.

Britton will probably appear in his first game, in a Bear uniform, on Wednesday when Grange and the north side team play in St. Louis.

The signing of Britton may make eight University of Illinois players on the Bear squad.

Al Gabel's Band Cinderella, Wednesday

Los Angeles. —(AP)—The illustrious cowboy who got off to a sensational start, only to appear a bit mediocre in later frays, he'll be watching next season, however.

Elmer Mark and Fred Grim were Ohio State's best contributions. Injuries, though, held Mark back to a great extent, keeping him on the bench much of the time. Like Kutsch, he should be mighty formidable in 1926. Grim showed to advantage practically throughout the chase.

At Northwood, "Tiny" Lewis made a favorable impression, his field goal against Michigan not only landing the Wolverines their only defeat but also kept Yost's team from going through the campaign without being scored on.

Other Big Ten schools also developed some first class sophomore gridgers, though the Minnesota and Michigan output outranked any of the rest.

Certainly it was one of the greatest years for youngsters in conference history. And if the 1925 performance can be taken as a criterion, next season should see a bunch of strong eleven men coming around Big Ten fields.

Michigan and Minnesota, especially, should flash great aggregations for the next couple campaigns. For each boasts an array of young sensations that would make the most pessimistic coach smile in a broad, earnest way.

Two-Fisted Sheboygan Boy Battles Kimberly Speeder On A. A. C. Fight Program

Sub for Injured Paddy McDonough Noted for Ability to Hit With Either Glove

Forced to make a sudden switch in the second preliminary bout of his third boxing show here Thursday evening due to an injury to Paddy McDonough of De Pere, promoters of the Appleton Athletic club were fortunate to sign a two-fisted battler of high quality in Henry Zimmerman of Sheboygan, no relation to the famous Heinie Zim of baseball's hall of fame who stole home with the catcher holding the ball. McDonough, a clean little battler, injured his hand while working for his bout with Arnie Pecan. Kimberly boxing instructor, and was forced to cancel his part in the bout under doctor's orders. Seeking an opponent for the "beever kid" from Kimberly, Zimmerman was signed on the recommendation of boxing experts of the state.

POPULAR AT FONDY
The Sheboygan youth fought on a recent card at Fond du Lac and became popular over night in the Fountain city. Demands that he be brought back soon were so loud that he now graces a position on the next cards put on by promoter Jack Frankfort, who recommends him highly. He hits with either fist or as some of his opponents will tell him, both at once. Either paw carries a wallop which the Kimberly youth will have to step lively to avoid. Pecan is a nice scrapper, clever and fast and with a "fing the bell" blow. He spends most of his time at the fistie game as director of the village of Kimberly in the gentle art of self-defense and local men who have seen him workout at the downriver village say he is fit as a fiddle. His friends are backing him in great style and present indications have him of Kimberly at the ringside to whom it up for "Dok." His ability to weather punishment also is well known down at Kimberly, although they say he has never had to take much of that treatment.

Another slugger is Al Rausch of Menasha who meets Earl Rogers, elusive Appleton boy, in the opener, so that fans are assured a pair of serious slugfests under the main boards of the evening which are hummers. Rausch is making a rapid rise in the hearts of Menasha fans who will swarm the ringside Thursday night. Not since Jabber Jung was in his prime have the Fall City been so enthused over a fighter or had such a nice looking corner in town. The Fall City, which always loves a real scrapper, is boasting to not the boy on fistie map in the same manner that it backed Jung and many fans are hopeful he will attain high honors and make Menasha nice ball for the losers.

NORTHERNS WIN TITLE FROM ARMY STORE FIVE

Taking two out of three games from the Appleton Army Store bowling team Sunday in a match rolled on the Elk alleys, the strong Hotel Northern crew broke a tie between the two squads and took the "inter-team" title. The Army store five broke into the win column first in the matches and then the Northern tied matters up so that a third match was necessary.

Neither team rolled up to standard but the Northern gained a 120 pin win, 247-235. Bill Fries of the Hotelmen collected the only double century mark of the evening, a 203 and this aided him to take high series mark, 571.

Hotel Northern—A. Bauer 125, 157, 140, 423; Wm. Fries 170, 198, 203, 571; Van Abel 177, 170, 129, 476; A. Jimes 132, 115, 151, 458; F. Berge 197, 155, 162, 514. Totals 802, 885, 785, 2472.

FROSH. SOPHS WIN IN BLUE CAGE MEET

Freshmen and sophomores of Lawrence college were the winners in the first battles of the 1925 interclass basketball tournament which was started Monday afternoon at Alexander gymnasium. The crack frosh squad had an easy time to trim the seniors 20-7. The seniors failed to score until the second half and then garnered five free throws in which department they shone. Courtney, Dilleit, Hillman, Hilton and Hanke, the first five Greens played nice ball with Courtney and Dilleit starring on offense and Hillman on defense. Bassett and Erickson were senior stars.

In the second battle the sophs had a harder time with the juniors but steadily piled up a lead to win, 8-0. Reudt, Bloomer and Johnson starred many fans are hopeful he will attain high honors and make Menasha nice ball for the losers.

WE WANT PRACTICAL GIFTS!

Smile if you wish—but remember please, that there are still some who don't know men as well as you do. Therefore, we take this way of reminding them that "naught can compare with gifts to wear," and even though you spend a small sum or a large sum, the gift that gives greatest pleasure to any man, young man or boy on your list, is something to wear. Especially pleasing will it be if chosen from our great collection of the finer things men are sure to enjoy. It is worn every day, not put out of sight and out of mind.

COUPLE WILL WED AT CIRCUS

Leonard Diestler and Florence Abrahams in Public Nuptial Ceremony

Miss Florence Abraham and Leonard E. Diestler, both of Hortonville, are principals in the public wedding which is to be held at the armory Wednesday evening in connection with the American Legion circus showing all this week. They consent to be married at that time has been obtained by George C. Dame, commander of Oney Johnston post of the legion. He announces that the Rev. Frank Reier of Dale, will perform the ceremony.

This couple took out a license more than a week ago and intended to be married on Thanksgiving day. They postponed the ceremony, however, when requested by the legion to have it take place at the armory.

Large audiences are attending the circus each night. Ten excellent acts, including a head slide on a thin wire, are being conducted on a large platform in the center of the building. Numerous booths are conducted at the sides.

BUILDING PERMITS

One residence and removal of a garage, total work to cost about $8,150, are mentioned in building permits issued Tuesday by G. E. Peotter, city building inspector. They are: Gregory Schindler, residence and 2-car garage at 1066 W. Locust-st. Nolan Ryan, move garage from 701 S. Outagamie-st. to 330 E. Pacific-st.

HOLD GREEN BAY MAN FOR TRYING TO STEAL 2 CARS

Vigilantes Pursue Would-be Thief and Turn Him Over to Police Force

After he had unsuccessfully attempted to steal several automobiles which were parked on W. Washington and W. Franklin-sts at about 10 o'clock Sunday evening, Anton Bersch, 725 S. Adams-st., Green Bay, was caught after a chase of several blocks by four Appleton men, turned over to the police and placed under arrest by Police Officer Joseph Tayer. He was to be arraigned in municipal court at 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon on a charge of petty larceny.

Bersch was foiled in his attempted efforts by Russell Walsh, Ray Koopke, Oscar Kuntz and Ira Kimball. Bersch first attracted their attention when he tried to make away with a Ford touring car belonging to the Kuntz livery and which was parked in front of the premises on W. Washington-st. Only the fact that the car was lodged in between two others prevented Bersch from obtaining possession of it.

HEARD MOTOR START

The four captors of Bersch, who were sitting in the office of the livery, heard the motor of the car running, but did not pay any attention to it at first. Suddenly they were reminded that the car was evidently being started by someone other than the owner and they rushed outside the building just in time to see Bersch escaping around the corner on foot. They noticed that the latter wore a light overcoat and carried a pair of roller skates.

After a hurried consultation the young men decided to separate and follow Bersch. A few minutes later they discovered him again getting into a car on Franklin-st near the Lincoln school. Both the pursuers and the pursued discovered each other at the same time, and the latter immediately turned and ran. He was overtaken within a few minutes, however, and returned to police headquarters by his captors.

After some questioning Bersch admitted he had taken the roller skates which were found in his possession from the armory. He wore an overcoat which appeared too large for him, but stoutly maintained he had purchased the coat at a Green Bay store and had paid $1 down on it. He gave his age as 25, and told police he was a welder living at Green Bay.

He telephoned the Green Bay police department Tuesday morning regarding Bersch and hoped to secure more information about the latter before he was arraigned Tuesday afternoon.

Again the movie cameras ground out their historical pictorial records and again the representatives of the signatory nations spoke in turn, this time to declare that their governments would forever fulfill the obligations to which they had just assented.

PLEDGED FAITH

The British premier, who was the only one to employ the English language was visibly moved when he announced that his government welcomed the treaty of Locarno and would scrupulously and with loyalty fulfill its duties under the compact.

Great Britain, he added, was certain that the treaty would not disappoint the hopes of the world in laying the foundation for that peace which had so long been sought. His sentiment was that of the other speakers.

"The peace of the world could not have been effected without some great demonstration of international good will such as this ceremony today," said Mr. Briand, the French premier, after the security pact had been signed.

"This has been done," he added, "is the most important step in the history of the modern world, and the future should be one of arbitration and collaboration between nations, where war and armament have no place."

Emile Vandervelde, Belgian foreign minister, thought that the house-keeping of Europe through the Locarno treaty properly would show a resumption of closer relations between Europe and the United States, with the United States running the danger of being committed to take a hand in any European affairs.

LUTHER PLEASED

After the Locarno ceremony in the foreign office Chancellor Luther of Germany gave the Associated Press this statement:

"This day of signing of the Locarno pact is a milestone in the history of European nations. It shows the will of all the partners to the treaty to restore peace. Readjustment to normal economic and political relations will be the ultimate outcome of our endeavors."

He considered that this pact is the first step, but a decisive one in that direction. The pacification of the world and in its wake the prosperity of nations, is the final aim. There are still obstacles to overcome but we are at last so far advanced that I can say with assurance the goal is attainable."

Mrs. William Keller and children were Menasha visitors last Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. N. J. Weneman spent Sunday with friends at Wrightstown.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Barrett of Washington, D. C., visited at the Frank Gehrmann home and left Sunday for Oklahoma where Mr. Barrett will be employed by the government.

BROTHER BARNABAS TO SPEAK IN GREEN BAY

A number of Appleton men will go to Green Bay Wednesday evening to hear Brother Barnabas, head of the Boy Life Bureau of the Knights of Columbus, who is to address a meeting in the new Columbian club. The meeting will start at 7:30. Brother Barnabas, who spoke here a few months ago, is going to Green Bay from Chicago and will leave immediately after the meeting for South Bend, Ind., where he is to speak Thursday night. He then goes to Pittsburgh where he is to take part in a program Friday night.

An effort is being made here to make up a party to go to the Green Bay meeting.

Harold Eads of Appleton, was elected first vice president of the 1924 state order boys conference at the 1925 annual conference held Friday and Saturday at Fond du Lac. The place for the 1926 conference has not been selected but the choice is between Racine and Green Bay with the executive committee making the choice. Howard Folsom of Fond du Lac, was elected president of the state conference and other officers are Lyle Hanson, Racine; Jack Landen, Madison; and George Burridge, Green Bay, vice presidents and Grant Cumberland, secretary.

Appleton with a delegation of 23 boys, had the second largest representation outside of Milwaukee, which sent 88 boys. The local group consisted of Robert Radech, Frank Hirsman, John Cutlin, Norman Johnston, Harold Eads, Edward Blesman, William Lyons, Lloyd Townsend, Alton Fiedler, Arthur Smith, Carleton Rath, Carleton Steiner, Robert Mitchell, Robert Schaefer, Russell Henyes, Alton Hurwood, Russell Henyes, Robert Eads and Carl Engler. Two Neenah boys and John Papp, boys work secretary of the Y. M. C. A., also were included in the local delegation.

Appleton H-Y club offered a silver challenge cup to the club which has the best attendance from the close of this year's conference to the opening of the 1926 meeting and all of the other clubs in attendance accepted the challenge. Glen Opperman, president of the local club, made the challenge.

One of the 11 clubs of the state which received the award of "superior H-Y club." The superior award is given only to clubs which have attained the highest possible standards during the last year and have given their best efforts to promoting Christian ideals of living in the high school and community.

The local group received a certificate for the honor and will receive an award later in the year. It has the distinction of a 100 per cent record, having won the honor last year (also, the first year it was given). Other clubs winning the honor this year are Kenosha, Madison, Green Bay, Fond du Lac, Washington, high school, Racine, West high, Ashland, Kee, Waupun, La Crosse and Superior.

Certificates for standard clubs, next highest honors, were awarded to Whitewater Normal school, Whitewater Normal high school, Waupun, Bay View high, Milwaukee, South Division high, Milwaukee; West Alis high, Riverside high, Milwaukee; Central H-Y club, Superior; Waubesa, Lake Geneva, Holol, Delavan, Sunnyside, Rhinelander, East Troy, Bay Center, Cumberland, Barton, Fredrick, Spring, Elkhorn, Sellsville, Mayville, Beaver Dam, Horton, Fox Lake, Waupun and Madison Central high schools.

R. V. Sowers, T. F. Schneider, Milwaukee; George Burridge, Green Bay; John Chinky, Milwaukee; and John Zentzky, were elected delegates to the world conference, which will be held at Helsinki, Finland, Aug. 1 to 2, 1926. Irving Black, Fond du Lac, and William Komak, Racine, were awarded jeweled H-Y pins for service to their clubs.

John W. Page of Appleton, was one of the conference discussion group leaders and J. E. Demmon of the Two Rivers Boys club, formerly loss work secretary here, was another member of this group. Dr. Henry Mayall, Wisconsin, president of the conference, gave one of the most inspiring talks on the program.

Other speakers included T. H. May, state student secretary; R. V. Sowers, state high school secretary; Earl Hunting of Milwaukee, a graduate of Lawrence college; Dr. E. A. Stueber of Grinnell college, Iowa; Guy W. Aldrich, state secretary; James "Jimmie" Brader, assistant coach at Wisconsin University, who spoke for George Little, director of athletics. Mr. Little was unable to be present.

WISCONSIN WEATHER
 Partly cloudy tonight and Wednesday; rising temperature.

WEATHER CONDITIONS
 Except for light snows over the Lake region from a low pressure area crossing that section, and rains over the Pacific coast section, the weather is fair in practically all sections of the country. A storm appears to be approaching the southern Atlantic coast. The pressure is very low in the Canadian northwest this morning, and is low from thence northward into Alaska, which favors a period of moderate temperatures over the northern states. Considerable cloudiness, with moderate temperature is forecast for this section over Wednesday.

FRIENDSHIPS ARE TEST OF SUCCESS

Dr. Wriston Tells Older Boys Conference What Is Essential to Friendship

Fond du Lac—Capacity for friendship is a test of success. Dr. Henry M. Wriston, president of Lawrence college, Appleton, told the Wisconsin Older Boys' conference at its annual meeting here. Five essentials of friendship, Dr. Wriston said, are: "To be healthy and vigorous and consequently optimistic and thus fit for friendship; to have self-control; to possess the capacity to subordinate the lower to the higher; to have a sense of proportion; and to have a Christian spirit of love."
